

Living miDream

For each individual there is a moment of discovery - finding a pathway to discover our passion and an understanding of who we are.

A photograph of a serene forest scene. A dirt path winds through a lush green landscape. On the left, a large, moss-covered tree trunk is prominent in the foreground. The path leads towards a cluster of pink flowering bushes and white flowers. In the background, tall, slender trees with green foliage stand against a soft, overcast sky. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and natural.

Who am I?

PURSUIT OF PASSION

“I believe in standardizing automobiles. I do not believe in standardizing human beings.

Standardization is a great peril which threatens American culture....

Such men [as Henry Ford] do not always realize that the adoration which they receive is not a tribute to their personality but to their power or their pocketbook.”

—— Albert Einstein, Saturday Evening Post interview, 10/26/1929
